Editorial: France's President: Not so simple Two days after the Charlie Hebdo attack, France's President Sarkozy said during a visit to the United States, "Freedom means being able to criticize those in power without having to fear for your life." There is no mention of the families of the people killed in Charlie Hebdo. Does this mean there are no family members, or the government wants to avoid them? Free speech means the right to express opinions -- peaceful or violent. Sarkozy is saying that if people can say anything they want in peace, they will be protected. Let him try to live by his own words.Effects of soy protein on the incidence of metachronous adenomas in familial adenomatous polyposis: a pilot study. It is reported that the risk of metachronous colorectal polyps following colectomy for familial adenomatous polyposis is reduced by the use of a diet supplemented with soy protein. However, this relationship has not been studied in a controlled design. To assess the effects of soy protein intake on the incidence of metachronous colorectal polyps after colectomy for familial adenomatous polyposis. Pilot study conducted in 50 patients who underwent colectomy for familial adenomatous polyposis in the Royal Brisbane and Women's Hospital between 1987 and 1993. Patients were recruited from the same registry. Patients received a diet without or with 100 g of soya protein per day, for a period of 1 year. The protocol was followed for 12 months, and all patients were assessed for clinical endpoints: occurrence of metachronous colorectal polyps and occurrence of other complications. Of the 50 patients recruited, 27 completed the trial with adherence to the diet. The incidence of metachronous colorectal polyps in the two dietary groups was similar, 6 of 17 patients (35%) in the soy group versus 4 of 10 patients (40%) in the control
